Appendix 16A: The 1594 Extent of Cemais: landholdings, tabulated, showing post-medieval parishes.

The following pages contain a tabulation of the landholdings listed in the 1594 Extent of Cemais (Owen 1977), with the exception of the borough of Newport. The services listed in the Extent are considered in Appendix 8.

Reference numbers have been allocated to identify Extent landholdings. The separate Excel file (App 13B_16c_geoloc_all) gives British National Grid co-ordinates for most of these sites, and also for other late 16th century landholdings of freeholders that were not included in the extent but which can be identified from Confirmations of Rights of 1595-7 and other sources – see Appendices 16D and 16E for more details of these.

The Manor of Newcastle and Redwalls, as listed in the 1594 Extent of Cemais. Taken from Owen 1977, 38-40

NB

- In addition to the tenements named in the 1594 Extent, lands in Newcastle village, Treberveth, Nant y Bugail, Melin Cemais, Llygad Cleddau, Cefn Ystrydog and Gafael Gytto Bowen were listed in 1583 as being demesne lands in the hands of gale tenants. They are shown below in addition to the 1594 lands.
- In the 1583 rental George Owen noted that Newcastle, Cefnllymwith and Redwalls were distinct units, the latter being far removed from the other two, but that they were grouped together in old ministers' and receivers' accounts.

2 All freeholders, from 1594 extent, late 16th century Confirmations of Rights, and other sources.

This list includes all freeholders that can be identified from the 1594 extent (Owen 1977), Confirmations of Rights of 1595-7 (NLW Bronwydd), and other sources that principally consist of the Inquisition Post Mortems etc recorded in the articles of Francis Jones. The location of the landholder's residence is taken either from the 1594 extent, the Confirmations of Rights, from Francis Jones 'Historic Pembrokeshire Homes' (Jones 2001), or from Howells' index to the 1977 edition of Owen's 1594 Extent which draws on his extensive research into 16th century Pembrokeshire (references at end). The list includes Bayvil's bond tenants since they were, in functional terms, effectively freeholders by the 16th century.

Appendix 16F – freeholders lands – detailed list, showing individual landholdings

Lands of Cemais freeholders, taken from 1594 extent, late 16th century Confirmations of Rights, and other sources.

This list includes all the lands of freeholders that can be identified from the 1594 extent (Owen 1977), Confirmations of Rights of 1595-7 (NLW Bronwydd), and other sources that principally consist of the Inquisition Post Mortems etc recorded in the articles of Francis Jones. The location of the landholder's residence is taken either from the 1594 extent, the Confirmations of Rights, from Francis Jones 'Historic Pembrokeshire Homes' (Jones 2001), or from Howells' index to the 1977 edition of Owen's 1594 Extent which draws on his extensive research into 16th century Pembrokeshire.

The list includes Bayvil's bond tenants since they were, in functional terms, effectively freeholders by the 16th century. It does not include the land held by George Owen's family before he became Lord of Cemais: this is listed in Appendix 16D.

'Manor' denotes the manors or court shown either in the 1594 Extent or in the Confirmations of Rights. For references see Appendix 16C. British National Grid co-ordinates for these properties are given in Appendix 16B.

The properties listed for Elizabethan Bowen (#23) are taken from the 1586 Inquisition post Mortem of her father Thomas Bowen (Jones 1979), since no Confirmation of Rights exists for the large estate of the Bowens of Pentre Ifan, and few Bowen properties are listed in the Extent. There appears to have been some dispute between the Bowens and the Lord of Cemais (Jones 1979), and (given the family's hereditary links with the pre-Conquest maer) some of their lands were probably exempt from Rent of Extent. Some of the Bowen lands may have been sold by 1594, when the Extent is written – the main person buying in Dinas being Thomas Lloyd; in Bayvil sales to George Bowen are also recorded.

'Freeholder owner-occupied units (non-GO, non LofC)' refers to units which appear to be either occupied or farmed directly by the freeholder or Lord of Cemais. They do not imply one resident freeholder in each unit.

Notes (relevant to the above list) about some uncertain Eglwysrwr Lord of Cemais lands:

- Keven Dianell – George Owen buys lands here (1550, 1578, 1586) but NLW Bronwydd 1040 of 1520 indicates that the Lord of Cemais (pre-Owen) has lands here: ‘1040, 1520/1, March 6: 1. William Donald to 2. Maurice ab Retherch sebere: LEASE for 90 years of a tenement and land at Henheon between the land of Dolle Oweyn on the south and Carnhenon on the north and the land of the lord on the west and east, and a parcel of land at Kevendyannell between the land of Jamys ab Ieuan ab Jankyn on the east and the land of the lord on each side within the lordship of Eglossero in Kemmeys. Rent: 6s annually. Latin. Fragment of seal.
- Llanerch Vychan/ Place y Llanerch (William ap Owen) – Bought by Owen in 1581 (NLW Bronwydd 1233)
- Nant hean (George Mathias) – this property is bought by Owen from James Dovenalt in 1578 – see NLW Bronwydd 1228.
- Nant hean issa – May have been held by the Lord of Cemais before Owen’s time – no specific Owen transaction can be identified here, and there is at last one other landowner/ freeholder here (Myles Thomas) whose lands are tenanted (NLW Bronwydd 1903 of 1595).
