POTTERY – Coarse Ware and Fine Ware (other than Samian): Section 4.4 by Christopher Sparey-Green

APPENDIX 1 CONTEXT DATING FROM POTTERY

From the fabrics and vessel forms the following analysis of context dating can be proposed. It should be noted, however, that some of the medieval contexts are identified purely on stratigraphic information, these contexts containing no identifiable post-Roman pottery.

PREHISTORIC

No certainly identified groups of pottery appear to be exclusively prehistoric. Scattered sherds were identified within Roman features.

LATE IRON AGE –ROMAN

Contexts of uncertain but probably Late Iron Age to Roman date

18, 32, 53, 62, 78, 100, 101, 106, 120, 140, 147, 211, 242, 251, 252, 255, 269, 271, 272, 313

LATE IRON AGE -EARLY ROMAN - Early to Mid First Century AD

Only contexts containing early pottery

30, 113, 144, 165, 185, 210, 234, 235, 239, 277, 291, 304, 315

EARLY- MIDDLE ROMAN - Mid First to Mid Third Century AD

Only contexts containing pottery of early or middle Roman period

126, 127, 132, 143, 162, 202, 205, 214, 215, 222, 223, 224, 236, 246, 293, 302, 308

LATE ROMAN – Mid Third to Late Fourth Century AD

Contexts containing Late Roman pottery

15, 16, 17, 19, 21, 24, 25, 33, 39, 56, 61, 63, 65, 66, 109, 109A, 110, 114, 116, 118, 119,

121, 123, 125, 129, 138, 161, 164, 176, 186, 189, 190, 191, 192, 198, 199, 209, 216, 227, 238, 245, 250, 262, 285

Within this group the following contained variants of Black Burnished Ware which may date to the Late Fourth or early Fifth century.

63, 66, 109a, 110, 129, 161, 189, 198, 209, 245

APPENDIX 2

DORSET BLACK BURNISHED CATEGORY 1

Summary of forms grouped by date and correlated with types as listed in Seager Smith and Davies 1993, 229-241. Exact correlations are not always possible and some types have been subdivided and occur more than once. Only the more complete vessel types are included.
