

Contents

List of Figures	viii
List of Tables	xv
Abstract	xvii
Part One: Introduction and Research Background
Chapter 1. Introduction	1
Chapter 2. A Historiography of Roman and Early Medieval Settlement Studies	4
Introduction	4
Trends and Approaches in Roman and Early Medieval Settlement Studies	4
The Continuity Debate	9
Conclusion	10
Chapter 3. Historic Landscape Character and the Concept of ‘Pays’	11
Introduction	11
Mapping Roman and Early Medieval Settlement	11
Historic Landscape Character and the Regional Study Areas	15
Regional Landscape Character – The Concept of Pays	20
Chapter 4. Methods and Principles	21
Introduction	21
Regional Study Areas	21
Sources of Evidence	21
Research Principles	25
Data Sources	29
Part Two: Norfolk
Chapter 5. Norfolk: Background and Introduction	31
Introduction	31
Regional Geography and Historic Landscape Character	31
Methods and Principles	40
Chapter 6. Roman and Early Medieval Settlement Relationships in Norfolk: the Eastern Pays	42
Introduction	42
The Boulder Clay Plateau	42
The Rich Loams	50
Chapter 7. Roman and Early Medieval Settlement Relationships in Norfolk: the Western Pays	58
Introduction	58

The Breckland	58
The West Norfolk Lowland	71
The Chalk Scarp	79
The Good Sands	86
Chapter 8. Norfolk: Final Discussion and Conclusion	89
Discussion	89
Conclusion	97
Chapter 9. Barton Bendish and Fransham: A Case Study	99
Introduction	99
Fransham	99
Barton Bendish	106
Discussion	113
Conclusion	114
Part Three: Kent
Chapter 10. Kent: Background and Introduction	115
Introduction	115
Regional Geography and Historic Landscape Character	115
Methods and Principles	126
Chapter 11. Roman and Early Medieval Settlement Relationships in Western Kent: the Northern Pays	128
Introduction	128
The North Kent Foothills	128
The Chalk Downs	140
The Vale of Holmesdale	148
Chapter 12. Roman and Early Medieval Settlement Relationships in Western Kent: the Southern Pays	158
Introduction	158
The Chart Hills	158
The Low Weald	167
The High Weald	176
Chapter 13. Kent: Final Discussion and Conclusion	177
Discussion	177
Conclusion	186

Part Four: Somerset

Chapter 14. Somerset: Introduction and Background	187
Introduction	187
Regional Geography and Historic Landscape Character	187
Methods and Principles	199
Chapter 15. Roman and Early Medieval Settlement Relationships in Eastern Somerset	202
Introduction	202
The Lias Plain	202
The Mid Somerset Lowlands	211
The Limestone Scarp	220
The Mendip Hills	227
The Clay Vale	231
Chapter 16. Roman and Early Medieval Settlement Relationships in Western Somerset	233
Introduction	233
The Vale of Taunton Deane	233
The Blackdown Hills	241
The Brendon and Quantock Hills	244
Chapter 17. Somerset: Final Discussion and Conclusion	246
Discussion	246
Conclusion	252
Part Five: Discussion and Conclusion
Chapter 18. Final Discussion	255
The Research Process	255
Themes and Trends in Roman and Early Medieval Settlement Relationships	257
Continuity or Discontinuity?	260
Chapter 19. Conclusion	263
Bibliography	266