

Contents

List of Figures	xi
List of Tables	xix
Abbreviations	xxi
Glossary of Terms	xxiii
1. Introduction	1
1.1. Archaeology of institutions.....	2
1.2. Archaeology of the asylum.....	4
1.3. Other scholarship relating to asylum environments	5
1.4. Buildings archaeology and buildings theory	11
1.5. Approach taken in this study	12
1.6. Methodology.....	13
1.6.1. Material evidence.....	14
1.6.2. Textual and other non-material sources	15
1.7. Discussion and conclusion.....	16
2. Historical Background	19
2.1. Introduction	19
2.2. England and Wales	19
2.2.1. Institutional care of the insane prior to public asylums.....	19
2.2.2. Establishment of public asylum system.....	24
2.2.3. Colony asylums in England.....	29
2.3. Ireland.....	31
2.3.1. Institutional care of the insane poor prior to public asylums.....	31
2.3.2. Establishment of public asylum system.....	41
2.3.3. Colony asylums in Ireland	63
2.4. Scotland	65
2.4.1. Institutional care of the insane prior to public asylums.....	65
2.4.2. Establishment of public asylum system.....	75
2.4.3. Village/colony asylums in Scotland.....	79
2.5. Germany	80
2.5.1. Institutional care of the insane prior to public asylums.....	80
2.5.2. Establishment of public asylum system.....	81
2.5.3. Colony asylums in Germany	83
2.6. Development of the colony asylum in Europe	83
2.7. Medical attitudes to insanity at the turn into the twentieth century.....	88
3. Study Sites: Scotland	95
3.1. Aberdeen District Lunatic Asylum (Kingseat)	95
3.1.1. Introduction.....	95
3.1.2. Construction of asylum.....	95
3.1.3. Treatments.....	97
3.1.4. Escapes, restraint and injuries.....	98
3.1.5. Staffing.....	99
3.1.6. Site	99
3.1.7. Layout	101
3.1.8. Selected buildings	101
3.1.9. Medical superintendents at Kingseat and their views on insanity	107
3.2. Edinburgh District Lunatic Asylum (Bangour Village).....	109
3.2.1. Introduction.....	109

3.2.2. Construction of asylum.....	109
3.2.3. Staffing.....	113
3.2.4. Site and layout	113
3.2.5. Selected buildings.....	114
3.2.6. Medical advisors and superintendents at Bangour and their views on insanity	126
3.3. Renfrew District Asylum (Dykebar).....	128
3.3.1. Introduction.....	128
3.3.2. Construction of asylum.....	128
3.3.3. Site layout and structures.....	133
4. Study Sites: Ireland, England and Germany	139
4.1. Belfast District Lunatic Asylum (Purdysburn).....	139
4.1.1. Introduction.....	139
4.1.2. Site and layout	145
4.1.3. Selected buildings.....	145
4.1.4. Medical superintendent at Purdysburn and his views on insanity	147
4.2. Sixth Lancashire County Asylum (Whalley).....	154
4.2.1. Introduction.....	154
4.2.2. Construction of asylum.....	156
4.2.3. Site and layout	160
4.2.4. Selected buildings.....	160
4.3. Alt Scherbitz Provincial Asylum (Die Provinzial Irrenanstalt zu Alt Scherbitz)	162
4.3.1. Introduction.....	162
4.3.2. Construction of asylum.....	166
4.3.3. Selected buildings.....	170
5. Locations and Layouts	193
5.1. Factors affecting choice of site.....	193
5.1.1. Environment at the turn into the twentieth century	193
5.1.2. Ventilation.....	194
5.1.3. Open-air treatment	195
5.2. Ireland.....	197
5.2.1. Belfast District Lunatic Asylum (Purdysburn)	197
5.3. Scotland	200
5.3.1. Edinburgh District Lunatic Asylum (Bangour)	201
5.3.2. Renfrew District Lunatic Asylum (Dykebar).....	206
5.3.3. Aberdeen District Lunatic Asylum (Kingseat)	208
5.4. England.....	211
5.4.1. Sixth Lancashire County Asylum (Whalley).....	211
5.5. Germany	212
5.5.1. Alt Scherbitz	212
5.6. Discussion and conclusion.....	213
6. Light and the colony asylum.....	217
6.1. Introduction	217
6.2. Light and its discourses	218
6.3. Darkness in the Victorian slums	220
6.4. Natural light provision in Scottish, Irish and English asylums	220
6.5. Light at Purdysburn	223
6.6. Interior movement of light.....	225
6.7. The winter gardens at Purdysburn	229
6.8. Discussion and conclusion.....	231
7. Domesticity and the colony asylum.....	233
7.1. Historical background to domesticity in the asylum	233
7.2. Contemporary primary evidence relating to domesticity	235
7.3. External architecture.....	237

7.3.1. Alt Scherbitz, Germany	237
7.3.2. Aberdeen District Asylum (Kingseat).....	239
7.3.3. Edinburgh District Asylum (Bangour Village)	245
7.3.4. Renfrew District Asylum (Dykebar).....	249
7.3.5. Belfast District Asylum (Purdysburn)	251
7.3.6. Sixth Lancashire Asylum (Whalley).....	253
7.4. Internal layouts, decoration and furnishings.....	254
7.4.1. Alt Scherbitz, Germany	254
7.4.2. Aberdeen District Asylum (Kingseat).....	255
7.4.3. Edinburgh District Asylum (Bangour Village)	256
7.4.4. Renfrew District Asylum (Dykebar).....	257
7.4.5. Belfast District Asylum (Purdysburn)	258
7.4.6. Sixth Lancashire Asylum (Whalley).....	260
7.5. Discussion and conclusion.....	260
8. Discussion	267
8.1. The colony asylum and hygiene	268
8.2. The colony asylum and rural location	269
8.3. The colony asylum as 'home-like'.....	271
8.4. The colony asylum and bourgeois values.....	273
8.5. The colony asylum and spatial segregation	275
8.6. The colony asylum, liberty and individuality.....	277
8.7. Conclusions	280
9. Conclusion	285
Bibliography	289